January 30, 2025.

KAMORALE from COM-FSM,

Yesterday a directive was issued under the U. S. administration that temporarily halted “all spending on federal grants, loans and financial assistance programs”. Title IV grants including Pell were exempt from the temporary pause.

Today (January 30, 2025) however, the latest update reports that the directive has been rescinded although the review of the programs will continue. In the interim, colleges have been encouraged to “catalog all federal funding...including the number of students and positions affected”.

The Board of Regents and the Senior Leadership Team at COM-FSM continue to work together to ensure that our learning and teaching services are not adversely affected.

Sincerely,

Theresa Koroivulaono (Ph. D)
President & CEO.
